

Call for Nominations: Carework Network's Public Engagement Award

The Carework Network is an international organization of scholars and advocates who focus on the caring work of individuals, families, communities, paid and unpaid caregivers, social service agencies and state bureaucracies. For more information, please visit our website: <https://careworknetwork.org>

In this opportunity, we would like to call for nominations for our "Carework Network's Public Engagement Award." This award will recognize contributions that provide a bridge between scholars, policymakers, stakeholders, and the broader public about carework.

Eligibility Criteria

Eligible work includes but is not limited to articles in the popular press and news outlets, works of art, websites, and podcasts. Nominees can belong to any occupation: writers, scholars, artists, and activists are all eligible. The primary criteria are that the nominee's work should include the goals of accessible and innovative contributions to studying, understanding, or communicating about care.

Nominations:

Nomination letters (including self-nominations) should be no more than 250 words and address how the nominee's work contributes to the criteria above and include information concerning how the nominated work can be accessed. Neither nomination letter writers nor nominees need be formally affiliated with the Carework Network.

Nomination materials can be submitted in English or Spanish.

Deadline: Nominations must be submitted by March 15, 2025. Please submit nominations to Kim Price-Glynn at kim.price-glynn@uconn.edu and Carolina Sternberg at csternb1@depaul.edu

Awards will be presented at the Carework Network's Fourth Global Care Summit "Histories and Futures of Care", June 5-7, 2025, at Duke University in Durham, North Carolina (USA). Awardees are invited and encouraged to attend the summit, but summit attendance is not an eligibility requirement.

Please address all questions to the awards committee:

Kim Price-Glynn, kim.price-glynn@uconn.edu
Carolina Sternberg, csternb1@depaul.edu